City of Fort Worth Application for Transportation Impact Fee Credit Agreement Information:

Overview:

Transportation impact fees are assessed by local governments on new development to help fund transportation improvement projects that add additional roadway capacity as new development occurs. These projects are listed on the Master Thoroughfare Plan (MTP) and could include new roadways, adding lanes to existing roadways, and improving intersections. When developers build or finance the building of roads on this plan, they can receive credit against otherwise due transportation impact fees. This application is required to establish a "credit agreement."

No transportation impact fee credit shall be extended for any building permits applied before the execution of the Credit Agreement.

Future Improvement Agreement Credit

An owner of a new development who has financed a transportation improvement or facility expansion designated in the transportation improvements plan, or other transportation improvement that supplies excess capacity, as required or authorized by the city, is eligible to enter into an agreement with the city to provide for credits against transportation impact fees due for the development in accordance with § 30-181.

Right-Of-Way Dedication Credit:

Credits for right-of-way dedication shall be deemed created when the right-of-way dedication has been executed.

Credit for right-of-way dedication will be determined by the highest of the following three calculations per square foot:

- (1) Twenty percent (20%) of the estimated construction cost in the latest transportation improvement plan.
- (2) Twenty percent (20%) of the total project cost as determined by the City's acceptance of the roadway facility.
- (3) The current Appraisal District Land Market Value per square foot for the property as listed in the most recent Appraisal District Valuation for the property. * If there is no
